

Liberal Arts College

Public Lecture

Urban Form and Democratic Theory

by
Richard Sennett

Richard Sennett is Director of the New York Institute for the Humanities, University Professor of the Humanities and Professor of Sociology at New York University. In addition to his scholarly career, he is also a novelist and the author of the recently published The Frog Who Dared to Croak (Farrar, Straus & Giroux). Previous publications include On Authority (Knopf, 1980) and The Fall of Public Man (Knopf, 1977).

Professor Sennett has been the recipient of numerous honours and awards among them a Guggenheim Foundation Award (1973), a senior research fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities (1976), and two visiting fellowships at the Institute for Advanced Study (1973-74, 1979). He has delivered the Sigmund Freud Memorial Lectures at the University of London and was visiting Professor at the College de France in Paris, and at Harvard University, where he received his Ph.D. in Urban Studies. Translations of his major writings are presently available in French, Italian, Dutch, German, Spanish and Japanese. A conference on his work was sponsored by the Danforth Foundation in 1976.

Time: Wednesday, 24 November 1982

at 8:30 pm

Place: H110 Hall Building,
1455 de Maisonneuve Blvd. West

Phone: 879-8051

CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY

